

Educational eating II

Chicago Tribune (1963-Current file); Nov 13, 1985;

ProQuest Historical Newspapers Chicago Tribune (1849 - 1987)

pg. C2

Educational eating II

The Bears' Wille Gault is married and Otis Wilson is single, which became very apparent at Tuesday's Crain's Quarterback Club luncheon. Gault was accompanied by his wife, Dainnese, and when he took the occasion to lobby for the Honey Bear cheerleaders, he ran into a little trouble. "I think the Honey Bears should stay," Gault stated. "Cheerleaders are a tradition dating back to peewee football. Cheerleading gives the girls an opportunity to do something for themselves and maybe go on to modeling or acting." Here Gault paused, and perhaps thinking he was making too vehement a case, added: "I mean, I don't know them or anything." At that point teammate Wilson came to the rescue. "You don't," he said with a smile, "but I do."

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.